

Ogheneyoma Onojakpor is a PhD student at the Department of Consumer and Food Sciences. She has about 5-year experience in the food industry. Her research interests are in sensory quality control in the food industry.